more than a year, who has been transferred to the Calgary recruiting centre.

The new second-in-command was born in England, but has lived most of his life in Canada. He has been a member of No. 3 Centre staff for about fourteen months.

Until recently he has been in charge of mobile recruiting in central and in the interest of sergic and economy.

Many wells throughout the central and northern portions of Alberta are being polluted by dead mice. The plague of field mice caused enormous loss to farmers who failed to get threshed last fall. Even flower gardens became victims of the rodents.

fingerlings have been moved back into the Pincher Creek pool, and another 20,000 will follow shortly. The new Field mice were so numerous in spring-threshed bundles of grain in the Round Hill district of Alberta that their mangled bodies blocked the cylinder teeth of a threshing separator on one farm.

The remains of Mrs. Gus Kaupp, who passed away at New Dayton, were laid to rest on Wednesday morning in the New Dayton Catholic cadets' demonstration, when they were presented with a pennant by Flight-Lieutenant Bowman, of No. 4 Command, Calgary, following inspection

by Wing Commander Brown, officer

8th ARMY'S INVINCIBLE VICTORY DRIVE ACROSS THE WESTERN DESERT

On October 23rd, 1942, the 8th Army opened its big offensive against Axis positions in the Western Desert with a terrific artillery barrage followed by infantry and armored assault. Since then, in co-operation with the Allied Air Forces, it has swept across the desert in an invincible victorious drive, carrying everything before it. The enemy has sustained losses in men and equipment in the full retreat across the Egyptian frontier. Picture shows a long line of German prisoners, some of the thousands which have been coming into Allied lines ever since the offensive began, being marched away under armed escort.

Women And The War

IT HAS BEEN REPEATEDLY stated that this is a war in which civilians are in "the front line," no less than those in the armed forces. In the countries which have been bombed by the enemy, this has already been shown to be true. In Canada civilians have not been called upon so far to meet with the horrors of war in their own homes, but in all walks of life they have shown themselves ready to give full support to a gigantic war effort. The large numbers of men who have joined the armed services, and the way in which industry has geared itself to the production of war materials have all shown the readiness of the people of this Dominion to support to the utmost the cause of the United Nations. That women have taken a full share in all that has been done is well known to most of us, but some details concerning their part in Canada's war effort reveal that their contribution is greater than is perhaps generally realized.

Much Work Done By Volunteers

In the national registration, taken in August, 1940, 2,285,370 women in Canada were listed as housewives. While some of these women have since entered war industries, the majority are still in their homes and their service in maintaining the home life of the nation and in keeping up the morale of those who are in the fighting forces or in war industries is recognized to be very great. These women, too, form a vast army of volunteer workers who contribute greatly in providing comforts for those in the services and for their families. Members of women's patriotic organizations also organize the collection of salvage, work for the promotion of better nutrition and national health, peace evacuees and refugees, assist in blood donor service, and in countless other ways meet and deal effectively with the human and social side of wartime problems. Several million dollars are raised every year in Canada for war services, and voluntary women's organizations are instrumental in raising a large proportion of this money.

Men Released For Service

In 1942 it was estimated that there were 5,500 Canadian women wearing official uniforms of the armed services and 75,000 women working in munition plants. Since that time these numbers have increased. These women all release men for active service in the army, navy and air force, and their contribution to the advancement of Canada's war effort is great. A number of outstanding Canadian women are also serving in official capacities on the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and in large war industries. Canadian nurses have responded to the needs of their services in the war, and in the spring of 1942 there were 875 nursing sisters in the Army. Nursing services are also maintained in the Navy and the Air Force. It is clear that when the war is won, Canadian women may feel that they have contributed in no small way to the struggle upon which the future of the world depends.

HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA

THE VIRTUES OF SIMPLICITY
In these days when everyone's time is so much occupied, and when minutes are precious, the housewife can reflect with pleasure that the simpler the meals she serves, the better they are for her family's health. The fact is that elaborate preparation of foods, especially of vegetables, causes the loss of much of their vitamin and mineral content.
Some of the menus used in the famous Boy's K Club experiment with noon meals, conducted in Toronto from February to March 1942, offer suggestions to mothers of school children. Here are three typical ones:
Baked Potatoes - Cheese Baked Lima Beans
Wedges of Raw Cabbage (dried) with Tomato
Tomato Juice
Buttered Whole Wheat Bread
Cocoa
Cod Liver Oil
Toasted Cheese Sandwiches on Whole Wheat Bread
Milk
Orange
Cod Liver Oil
Simple aren't they?
Yet each of these meals gives every boy or girl nearly all of his day's requirements in the protective food elements, the vitamins and minerals, and more than 1/2 of his calorie needs for the day. All this at an average cost of less than 16 cents per meal! And before you say, "But they won't eat brown bread or raw vegetables," please remember that the thirty K club boys, who were just ordinary boys like any others, did eat them without protest and enjoyed them. You may have to do a sales job but it can be done because it has been done. And it's well worth doing.
A post card request to the Western Division Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, will bring you a free copy of its authoritative Vitamin Chart.

Joining The Allies

French Fishermen Accept Invitation Broadcast From British Ships

The Nazis have threatened to stop French fishing boats from operating off the Atlantic coast near Gibraltar, because of the large number of crew desertions to the British, says the Washington Merry-Go-Round.

Whenever the French boats show up in this area, the British Navy sends out small, fast ocean-going cutters with loud-speakers. The cutters pull up a short distance away and soon the fishermen hear a rumbling voice announce:

"If any of you men want to join up with the Allies to fight those sea-and-so's, jump in the water and start swimming. We will pick you up."

Sometimes the French boats have been left without a single man on board, so great has been the response to the invitation. Several times the Vichy Government sent a small warship along to protect the fishing boats, with instructions to fire on deserters.

However, this precaution did little good, because gunners on the escorting vessel deliberately shot over the heads of the swimming figures.

SMILE AWHILE

"George looks worried today. What's wrong with him?"
"Oh, he's been contesting his wife's will."

"I didn't know she was dead."

"She isn't."

Amused movie goer (to man in next row): "Excuse me, but we can't hear a word."

Man in next row: "And is it any business of yours what I'm telling my wife?"

Junior brought home his report card, and with it was a note from the teacher. "Dear Mrs. Blank," said the note, "Junior is a bright boy, but he spends all his time with the girls. I'm trying to think up some way to cure him."

The mother studied the note, then wrote the teacher as follows: "Dear Miss Scuff: If you find some way to cure him, please let me know. I'm having the same trouble with his father."

As the U.S. government has ruled that hot dogs must be made purely of beef, Harry Bruck, Oakland meat inspector, has chosen a new name for hot dogs made of horse meat. He has dubbed them "Whinburgers."

The vacuum-cleaner salesman who had an appointment found the housewife unable to keep it. He suggested the following day:

"That's my busy day," she said. "If you call then you'll find me in a whirligig."

"That won't worry me, madam," said the salesman. "My last customer was in a kimonos."

Driving examiner: "What would you do if car brakes suddenly failed to work?"

Pupil: "I'll something cheap."

She: "You deceived me before we were married. You told me you were well off."

He: "I was, but I didn't know it."

"What are you going to do about it?" demanded the enraged tenant. "The walls of the house are all bulging outward."

"Bulging outward, are they?" said the landlord, with a pleasant smile. "Then your house must be bigger; I shall raise your rent."

Prospective Customer (entering art shop): "I want to see some of those pictures that are done by scratching."

Clerk (thinking a moment): "Oh, yes, you mean itchin'g."

Boy: "Mother, this book says that in the ocean the big fish eat up the little sardines. Is that true?"

Mother: "Yes, I believe it is."

Boy: "How do they open the tin?"

"Add, please stop saying we must hang together."

Victory Gardens

Painters On Sowing Certain Vegetables In Succession
If your Victory Garden is to supply your family with fresh health-giving, vitamin-rich vegetables throughout the summer and early autumn, it should be planned to give an all-season yield.

Take radishes. The early ones are edible for about one week. Suppose you want a six weeks' supply. If you sowed all six weeks' at once you would have for one week many more radishes than you could use, and then no more.

There are only certain crops that require succession growing. Several plantings of carrots, beets and beans are advisable. Beans will give a long harvest if picked clean and not allowed to make seed. It is best never to let beans form in the pods. Use the pods when they are in the tenderest stage. Carrots and beans are still sweet, tender and nutritious when they are big in the fall, but they are still better when younger.

When making succession sowings, remember your second sowing will mature faster than the first because of the warmer weather. Your sowings should be sufficient for a definite period, so that there will be no wasteful over-production.

Kohlrabi, spinach, peas and radishes have particularly short harvests and successive plantings are necessary for continued supply.

When estimating the season's needs, imagine you are a market gardener with one customer, with whose buying habits you are familiar.

You can estimate your average gardening season and arrive at the number of vegetable dishes your family is likely to need, taking into account also your earning, requirements. Of course, many Canadians take pleasure in providing apartment-house friends with fresh garden foods. Others send surplus production charitable institutions, such as homes for dependent children. The point is to avoid waste. Food must not be wasted in wartime.

For further information to assist you with your Victory Garden write to the Federal or provincial department of agriculture.

Biscuits And War Jobs

Soda Crackers Are Very High In Calorie Value
(By Molly O'Dale)

While few civilians on the home front are suffering hardships as a result of the war, a great upheaval has been caused in settled habits of living. At this very moment thousands of women who, in peacetime, would be engaged exclusively in their domestic duties, are now working in munitions plants or devoting a lot of their time to civilian defence, Red Cross and other wartime activities.

This leaves them much less time for diet that needs no special preparation and goes well with soup, cheese, jam, marmalade, salads and so forth: The remarkable thing about soda crackers is that they compress a lot of nutrition into a very small compass. This is due to the fact that they contain very little moisture. In a loaf of good bread for instance, moisture constitutes about 36% of its total weight, while there is less than 6% of moisture in a soda biscuit. This dehydration enables soda crackers to be kept without spoiling, and without any special storage facilities.

Christie's soda crackers are very high in calorie value, too—they give you 108 calories for one cent which is 12 calories more for the money than you get in beef steak which averages only 17 calories for a cent. So—it's no wonder that 84 homes out of a hundred use biscuits and crackers regularly.

NO MORE "DOSING" MY CONSTIPATION—I'VE CORRECTED THE CAUSE!

"Regularity" is important in any time; but it's vitally important in these busy war days when all of us are working harder than ever. Don't just be "slowed down" by that common type of constipation due to lack of "bulk" in your diet. And be sensible... correct the trouble right at its source instead of "dosing" with harsh purgatives that give only temporary relief.

Not KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN... grumpy, tasting as a cereal or in hot, crisp muffins... eat it every day... drink plenty of water... then see if you don't forget you ever had common constipation. For ALL-BRAN supplies the "bulk" your diet needs... promotes natural regularity. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in two convenient sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Causes Fire At Sea
Fire at sea! This is the fear of all those "who go down to the sea in ships." If parcels containing inflammable substances are sent overseas this may be the tragic result.

Heat is generated in parts of ships' holds when the hatches are closed. Merchant ships are now armed, and when fire breaks out, the ammunition on board may cause a serious explosion.

Postal authorities point out that it is contrary to law to send matches, lighter fluid, or any inflammable substance through the mails. By doing this Canada's war effort may be impaired, and the lives of postal and railway employees, as well as the lives of those on ships, are endangered.

Big Merchant Marine Fleet Is Being Planned

Ottawa.—Canada has in sight a government-owned merchant fleet of some 200 cargo ships if the present ship-building program is carried out, Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons.

The present policy is to continue building slower ships which are more economical for war transport service but plans are being studied to convert some of the present ship-building capacity to faster ships after the war.

The minister made his statement on the mutual aid bill in answer to questions from Howard Green (Prog. Con., Vancouver South). He said while some 70 to 75 Canadian-built ships have been sold to the United States to obtain United States dollars, the exchange situation now had been eased, and he hoped it would not be necessary to sell more. Canada retained the ownership of ships placed at the disposal of the United Kingdom under mutual aid.

The government, said Mr. Howe, is retaining all the ships which can be manned but there is a shortage of crews which cannot be fully met by the merchant training schools.

With sales to the United States stopped the remainder of the ships would be retained either to be manned by Canadian crews and operated for Canada or chartered to the United Kingdom. Ships so chartered would be reclaimed after the war when it was hoped they could be manned with officers and sailors from the Canadian navy.

"We expect therefore, that the government merchant marine will be a substantial source of employment in the post-war years and will be of real benefit to Canadian post-war commerce," said Mr. Howe.

"That is the policy. In the meantime we are following the same procedure as is followed in Britain. Canada is not operating her ships directly.

"They are turned over to an operating company, known as the Park Steamship Company, that is, the ships that are operated with Canadian crews. The Park Steamship Company allocates ships to existing shipping lines which have, over the years, operated certain routes from Canada.

"These lines have their agents in ports of call to be made by the ships and the ships are chartered for one voyage only. They may be transferred to another operating company to another depending on the service in which they are placed for a particular voyage."

The ships, said Mr. Howe, were operated for the government on a small fee. The earnings are being placed in a special fund to write off the cost of the ship and by the end of the war it is expected a substantial part of the cost of the fleet will be paid off.

By the end of 1941 four or five cargo ships had been built. In addition to ships sold to the United States and transferred to the United Kingdom, Canada had 16 or 17 new ships in the mercantile marine.

NEW SUPPLY ROUTE

Being Built For Alaska Highway By U.S. Army Engineers

Fairbanks, Alaska.—A new 145-mile auxiliary route to funnel supplies for prosecution of the war in the Alaskan area is under construction by U.S. army engineers from Haines, Alaska, to a point on the Alaska highway 100 miles to the west of Whitehorse, Y.T., officers to the U.S. army here disclosed.

The road winds across the Chilkat pass from Alaska into the Yukon and for 42 miles follows a remnant of the old Jack Dalton trail. It crosses the coastal mountain range and continues in a northwest direction.

Supplies and equipment for the road-building project have been carried in to the bottom of the long climb over the pass. The Chilkat pass has long been held to be the easiest route in the opinion of northern Indians, but will present unusual snow problems in winter.

WAR LOAN IN AFRICA

Algiers.—Gen. Henri Giraud, opening a French war loan drive, offered the French in North Africa an opportunity to stake their money on the future of France. The bonds will pay three per cent and mature in three years. They are in denominations of 1,000 francs upward.

Details Of The Billion Gift To United Kingdom

Ottawa.—Finance Minister Isley estimated in the House of Commons that of the $1,000,000,000 gift to the United Kingdom last year $689,000,000 was represented by munitions of war and $311,000,000 by foodstuffs and raw materials.

Explaining the arrangements made for the supply of goods under the gift, Mr. Isley said it was not possible to declare that specific items had been paid for out of the gift. Actual shipments to the United Kingdom had exceeded $1,000,000,000 and of the total, part had been financed by means other than the gift.

In a tabulation dealing with "sterling area" purchases, the minister reported that shipments in the period covered by the gift totalled $1,440,000,000.

Mr. Isley said that "arbitrary" estimates had been made of the amounts shipped under the $1,000,000,000 gift and those sent under other methods of financing.

From the shipments made under the gift on this basis, it was known that supplies valued at $61,000,000 had been transferred to Russia—including tanks and armored fighting vehicles to the value of $40,000,000, shells and ammunition valued at $3,000,000 and base metals valued at $9,000,000.

Also from the gift, mechanical transport valued at $71,000,000 had been transferred to Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the sterling area.

In the breakdown of the portions attributed to the $1,000,000,000 contribution, Mr. Isley listed outlays for shipments as follows:

Aircraft and parts, $31,000,000; armored fighting vehicles and mechanical transport, including tanks, $34,000,000; chemicals and explosives, $32,000,000; guns and small arms, $50,000,000; shells and ammunition, $170,000,000; and other munitions of war, including naval and other vessels, instruments, communications equipment and the like, $54,000,000.

Also under the gift portion, the minister listed wheat valued at $87,000,000; bacon and pork products, $75,000,000; lumber, $28,000,000; cheese, $20,000,000; base metals (in part only), $101,000,000.

In the breakdown of purchases by the sterling area, but attributed to other sources of financing than the $1,000,000,000 gift, Mr. Isley listed commodity exports totalling $210,000,000 and services totalling $221,000,000.

In the commodity exports section, a total of $140,000,000 went to the United Kingdom, represented by: foodstuffs, $60,000,000; base metals, $19,000,000; wood products, $20,000,000; and miscellaneous, $32,000,000.

Commodity exports to the sterling area other than the United Kingdom were valued at $79,000,000.

ENSLAVE RUSSIANS

London.—Russia Foreign Commissar Molotov, in a note to all foreign diplomats in Moscow, charged that the German government sponsored systematic deportation of hundreds of thousands of Soviet civilians into slavery in Germany last winter, the Moscow radio said.

Might Discuss New Far East Offensive Plan

Washington.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill brought with him to Washington his top military, naval and air experts from India, leading to strong belief that the prime minister's conference with President Roosevelt will include plans for new offensives in the Far East.

With the prime minister were Field Marshal Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of British forces in India; Admiral Sir James Somerville, commander-in-chief of the eastern fleet, and Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, commanding British air force in India.

The master strategists of the United Nations' cause, enthusiastic over the Allied victory in Tunisia, are holding their fifth conference—the third to be conducted in the White House—in 17 months. They are attended by top British and American experts.

Only the brief announcement of Churchill's arrival was made, but observers here believe that in addition to European military plans they would give keen attention to these matters:

1. Plans to re-emphasize their "unconditional surrender" decision reached at Casablanca last January and to re-assess their lack of interest in peace offensives, except on that condition, whether emanating from the Axis directly or through such agents as Gen. Franco of Spain.
2. Insistent demands of the Axis.

Allies Have Taken More Land And Materials From Germans

Toronto.—Elliot Warburton, chief of the United Kingdom information office, Ottawa, said here that the Allies have taken more land, prisoners and war material from the Germans and Italians in Africa than the Japanese have taken in the Pacific from the British, Dutch and Americans together.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Women's Canadian club of Toronto, he said the United Kingdom had, so far, carried the biggest load of any of the United Nations if the effort by land, sea and air and the duration of that effort were taken into account.

Mr. Warburton paid warm tribute to the fighting forces of the other United Nations—the dominions, India, the colonies and "those very gallant men who have kept on fighting with their countries enslaved, their families and homes under the heels of the Axis conquerors."

The Royal Navy had undertaken a "terrible" task in guarding vital oceanic lines of communications, destroyed or captured more than 6,000,000 tons of Axis merchant shipping, three battleships, 15 cruisers, 62 destroyers, about 600 submarines and many auxiliary vessels. Its own losses had been more than replaced, he said.

Resistance In Low Countries Is Increasing

London.—Rioting in Berlin among anxious relatives of German soldiers killed, wounded or captured in the concluded Tunisian fighting and spreading violence in The Netherlands and Belgium against occupation forces has been reported.

The attacks on military establishments in the low countries and the reported movement of German troops into Belgium and Holland were taken as signs that an Allied invasion of the continent may be imminent.

The Netherlands news agency Ansa reported that Radio Orange, the Dutch station in London, had warned Holland's population that the Germans are trying to provoke a premature revolt.

The broadcast charged that the Germans are distributing forged calls to rebellion to provoke the Dutch people to violence, and added:

"Resistance is only good if it is carried out in concert. Do not be provoked."

The report of riots in Berlin was carried in a Reuters news agency despatch from Stockholm which was based on an account published in the Göteborg (Swedish Handeltidningen).

Elite guard troops were said to have broken up the riot without resort to arms.

The Reuters despatch said similar incidents were reported from other parts of Germany.

From the Low Countries to the Balkans rising patriot bands were reported concentrating and increasing attacks on vital rail arteries for Axis troops and supplies on a scale strongly suggesting that the underground war now emerging is guided by central orders to help clear the way from within for invasion of Europe.

The newest attacks, forcing the Nazis to arm and guard almost all trains, were reported spreading to Belgium from Holland, where two weeks of martial law and at least 43 executions have failed to restore order.

A Russian domestic broadcast recorded by the United States government's Foreign Broadcast Intelligence service, said mass strikes of Netherlands workers are taking place in many large cities of Holland in protest against the recent Nazi order that all former Netherlands soldiers must go to concentration camps.

Increasing resentment in Norway against forced labor on defence works has reached the breaking point, the Stockholm radio said in a broadcast also recorded by United States government monitors, and "passive" resistance is turning into "active counter measures."

London.—Three university students, one girl, were reported here to have been executed in Munich, Germany, for distributing leaflets which filtered from Munich to colleges in northern and central Germany and Bavaria.

The students were also alleged to have taken part in a demonstration interrupting an address by Gauleiter Paul Gieseler, which was followed by the appearance of anti-Nazi slogans on Munich walls.

Ottawa.—May 24 will be the third anniversary of the formation of the Veterans' Guard of Canada but its members will nearly all be carrying on their normal duties.

There will be little time for celebrations for most of them, said a defence headquarters statement. One task they have been carrying out has been the guarding of prisoner of war camps.

In October, 1941, the first company proceeded overseas and since then three other companies have followed them. One company was selected for duty at a Canadian military headquarters in London.

JAMAICA OR NEWFOUNDLAND

H. Glyde Gregory, of Havana, Cuba, writes The Financial Post as follows:

Why Canada should want Jamaica when it passed up Newfoundland, right next door, I do not know. Newfoundland is a "natural," Jamaica decidedly is not.

Jamaica is a beautiful island and a grand place for the old folks to spend the cold winter months, or for those that have business relations with the island. Beyond that Canadians in general can have no interest in the people of Jamaica. Make your trade treaty with Jamaica and keep it strictly a business proposition. That is all Jamaica wants, I am sure.

Now, do not overlook Newfoundland, and think back a bit. Canada lost the Oregon territory to the United States, also Maine, because we were apparently not interested. Then there was Alaska. Now look out, Uncle Sam will get Newfoundland, too.

OUR MOUNTAINS

A Salvation Army officer, who is serving with the R.C.A.F., describes the mountain beauty of his British Columbia station as follows:

"On all extremities of our fair isle, the craggy mountains rise from darkest reaches of the sea to unfold distances, where lost in increased banks of fog great snowcapped peaks abound, arrayed in long uneven ranges like hideous, irregular teeth of some fantastic ogre of the long ago. Near at hand are the spiked offspring of these ageless peaks. Impenetrable, woody, rotting forests spread like choking, clinging blankets o'er the contours of this land, filled with innumerable cedars, tall and straight, and gnarled and old, smothering the rocks, the roots, and treacherous hidden lakes throttling all living things of feeble strength; and in the spongy body of these hills are kept vast tons of water from above, where it is harbored many months in lasting mires like Christians' boundless sloughs to snare all venturing, wandering men. Myriads of pestilential flies abound and join the stifling growth, and the island's jagged periphery, to keep invaders out. Unconquerable the mountains seem, peaked with continual bands of snow, and cloaked with shifting opaque banks of fog. Such are our mountains.—D.K.P."

Great Britain's population of about 46,750,000 (3,000,000 of whom are children under 14 years of age) had up to November 24, 1942, contributed the sum of $20,669,533,760 in war loans, savings schemes and free gifts.

2nd ORDER ON COMPULSORY
EMPLOYMENT TRANSFERS

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, minister of labor, announces that he has issued the second order under Section 210 of National Selective Service Civilian Regulation, making available for the transfer to more essential employment men in age groups designated under Mobilization Regulations in a further list of certain occupations.

The second order covers men in the following employments: (1) Any occupation in or associated with retail stores; (2) any occupation in or associated with the manufacturing of feathers, plumes and artificial flowers; chewing gum; wine; lace goods; greeting cards; jewelry; (3) any occupation in or associated with distilling alcohol for beverage; (4) any occupation in or associated with the factory production of statuary and art goods; (5) any occupation in the operation of ice cream parlors and soda fountains; (6) any of the following occupations: bus boys; charmen and cleaners; custom fitters; dancing teachers; dish washers; doormen and starters; greens keepers; grounds keepers; porters (other than in railway train service); private chauffeurs.

This second order places June 15th as the date after which no employer may legally employ any man subject to Mobilization Regulations in any of the list of employments now issued, except under special selective service permit. At the same time the men employed in the industries now declared to be non-essential must register at an Employment and Selective Service office not later than June 15th. If farm or other essential employment is not immediately available for any men registering, they will be given permits to continue at their present jobs, although these permits may be cancelled at any time when the men's services are needed for high priority jobs.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell points out that the present order covers men employed in the restricted occupations, who are in four age and marital classes as follows: (a) Every man born in any year from 1917 to 1924 inclusive, who has reached age 19; (b) every man born from 1902 to 1916 inclusive who, at July 15th, 1940, was (i) unmarried; or (ii) divorced or judicially separated; or (iii) a widower without child or children; (c) every man born from 1902 to 1916 inclusive, who has since July 15th, 1940, become a widower without child or children now living; (d) every man born from 1902 to 1916 inclusive, who, since July 15th, 1940, has been divorced or judicially separated.

Once again the minister of labor has given assurance that men will not be directed to employment where the vacancies arise out of an industrial dispute, and that measures will be taken to ensure fair minimum earnings for the class of work to which a man may be directed. Under the regulations a man has a right of appeal to a court of referees, if he objects to being transferred. "At the present time," Hon. Mr. Mitchell states, "men in employments declared to be non-essential by the first order issued on May 4th, are still registering at the Employment and Selective Service offices, with registration date closed on May 19th. I would again point out that these orders impose obligations both on employers and employees. After May 19th in the case of the occupations in the first order, and after June 15th in the case of the second order, it will be illegal for an employer to continue to employ or to engage any man in a class designated under Mobilization Regulations, unless under special permit."

No manufacturer or wholesaler can legally increase his selling prices without written authority, states the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Metal, Rubber, Fats and Bones Needed for Tanks, Ships, Bombs

"Out of the scrap pile into the scrap." Bits of junk like the hot water tank shown inset help make the ships and depths charges that keep the ocean lanes clear of subs.

Have you looked around the house lately for unusable metal articles that might provide enough brass for a large cartridge case, enough copper for an army wireless set, or enough steel for a rifle? It's a great feeling to know that the old broken down buzz saw is being turned into an anti-aircraft shell.

Production figures just released by the department of munitions and supply show that, last year, the war factories of the Dominion turned out 3,800 planes, 12,500 armored fighting vehicles, 200,000 motorized transports, 38,000 guns, spare barrels and mountings, 325,000 rifles and machine guns, 28,000,000 rounds of heavy ammunition, 1,200,000,000 rounds of small ammunition, 430,000 tons of explosives and war chemicals, and more than 200 cargo vessels and combat ships. An untold amount of scrap metal, salvaged rubber, fats and bones

The cows are hoarding, too. A city dweller was reading a newspaper when he was heard to exclaim, "Gee, even the cows are doing it now!" His wife inquired: "Doing what?" He replied: "Hoarding. Right here in the headline it says 'Light native cow hides 7 cents'."

The minister's wife was visiting a member of the congregation and mentioned, with pardonable pride, that her daughter had won first prize in a musical recital. "I know just how you feel," said her hostess sympathetically. "I remember how pleased we were when our pig got the blue ribbon at the fair."

Municipal Judge Adams, of Los Angeles, recently ruled that if a person is legally permitted to keep a dog in the district where he resides, he cannot be held guilty of maintaining a nuisance if the animal indulges in the normal function of barking. The decision was handed down following a suit brought against one of the dog trainers for the movies whose neighbors complained that his several dogs' barking constituted a nuisance.

"Pa," said the boy, looking up from his book, "what does a man's 'better half' mean?"

"Usually, my son," replied the father from behind the newspaper, "he means exactly what she says."

Joe: "With whom was your wife quarrelling last night?"

Moe: "She was scolding the dog."

Joe: "Poor beast! I heard her threaten to take the front door key from him."

Teacher: "Junior, give me a sentence using the word 'diadem'."

Junior: "People who drive over busy railroad crossings without looking diadem sight quicker than those who stop, look and listen."

Mother: "What makes you think your young man has matrimonial intentions?"

Daughter: "Well, when we were looking at Easter hats he tried to convince me I looked better in a $2.98 model rather than one that cost $15."

Meat rationing in Canada starts Thursday next, May 27.

Drumheller's tax rate for 1943 has been set at 58 mills; 50 for school and 28 for general.

If you were to punish those responsible for your troubles, most of the punishment would be self-inflicted.

Hon. J. Walter Jones has been sworn in as premier of Prince Edward Island, succeeding Hon. Thane Campbell.

The Australian hospital ship Centaur has been torpedoed and sunk by Japs off Queensland coast with a loss of 239, including eleven nurses.

Pincher Creek has been sporting two pennants, their quota of $185,000 for the Victory Loan having reached slightly over the $246,000 mark.

Ten years ago suspension of all members of the U. M. W. of A. who allied themselves with any dual organization was threatened by Robert Levitt, president of District 18.

Diner: "Here, waiter, there's a button in my soup!"

Waiter: "Don't worry over that. That's a printer's error: It's supposed to be mutton!"

Waiter: "How did you find your steak?"

George: "Oh, I just pushed aside the two peas and a small potato and there it was."

Husband: "As I contemplate the wonders of nature, I realize how insignificant is man."

Wife: "Any woman knows that without contemplating."

The Moscow radio announces that Colonel Zigmund Berling has been put in command of a new Polish division to fight with the Red army.

Plans are underway to stagger school holidays in England and Wales this year so that more than 250,000 boys will be available to help with the harvest.

The great mooring mast at Cardington, Bedfordshire, to which the greatest airships were anchored is to be dismantled and its scrap turned over to munition factories.

It has been announced that Prime Minister Smuts may visit North America after the South African general election which will be held this year, probably in August.

The Canadian Army in Canada now has its own newspaper, titled "Khaki," it is published every Wednesday and is distributed free to the personnel of the army. The paper is prepared at Ottawa.

A British army cameraman captured eight Germans with his camera. As he raised the instrument to his eyes the Nazis thought he had some sort of new weapon and came out from a bush with their hands raised.

George Kruger-Gray, 62, outstanding painter and designer, whose work included the design of the great seal of King George VI, died recently. He also designed the great seal of Canada, Nova Scotia's official seal and cognage for the Dominions.

Moscow radio, recorded by CBS, reported that French Premier Pierre Laval had "signed an agreement" for annexation by Italy of Nice, Savoy and Corsica after the war. The Moscow report quoted "Stockholm reports."

APPROPRIATE

A man who had made his fortune in the liquor traffic built himself an imposing house out of his profits. He wanted a name for the new mansion, and consulted a friend about it.

"I want a fancy name," he explained, "some hall or other, you know."

"Something appropriate, I suppose," remarked the friend. "I won't call it Alco Hall?"

When your ambition is to get enough sleep, you are getting on in years and wisdom. 2516

Lake Steamers Busy Carrying Grain

The big lake steamer, "Mathewston," of Colonial Steamships Ltd., carried the South Victory Loan slogan in big white letters on her hull, when she loaded grain at Port William as navigation got away to a late start on the Great Lakes after one of the longest, coldest winters on record. Ships like the "Mathewston," and smaller ones painted battleship grey and mounting deck guns for the trans-Atlantic run, are busy at Canada's lakehead ports these days, loading foodstuffs. A fleet of 17 ships loaded with 6,554,000 bushels of grain, and four loaded with 8,850 tons of flour wintered at the lakehead and were first to head south, making way for an incoming fleet of steamers to clean up the balance of the ports' 142,000,000-bushel storage capacity.

Non-Essential Travel

Besides Being Very Uncomfortable It Is Not Patriotic

Until the war-created emergency is over there is no place for non-essential travel on the various transportation systems in Canada. The railroads are handicapped by shortage of equipment, as are buses. All available equipment, therefore, must be left free for the movement of munitions and service personnel.

It has become patriotic, and a good deal more comfortable, to stay at home rather than to go on a trip. Sitting room is not assured in rail way coaches, chair cars and diners are not available on many trains, and altogether travelling during wartime is anything but pleasant.

Aside from the inconvenience, travelling costs more these days with heavy taxes on, and with week-end and other special rates off. This may not make a difference to some people but it does make a difference to know that unnecessary travel does its bit to hinder the war program.

PRIVATE PROPERTY

At a navy dance a girl noticed a sailor wearing an unusual identification bracelet. She took hold of his wrist and read the engraved warning: "Hands off! He's mine! Margaret."

Liked South Africa

Montreal Nurse Enjoyed Life There While On Military Service

A Montreal nurse, Sister Janet Dunn, back from military service in South Africa, gives an interesting account of her adventures and experiences. Along with the 49 other Canadians who joined the South African Army Medical Service nearly two years ago, she was at first stationed at Pietermaritzburg, 40 miles from Durban. She was transferred to Johannesburg, where she cared for casualties from North Africa. There is plenty of food and no rationing in Johannesburg, says Miss Dunn, but there is a shortage of goods, and prices are high. Stockings are scarce and there is tea in abundance. She says that South Africans drink tea steadily from six in the morning until bedtime. A link with Canada is the prevalence of squash and pumpkin on menus. Her one regret is that she was absent the day the Canadian nurses were presented to Field Marshal Smuts.

DIRTY WORK

A Bremen newspaper says that German women helping in the war effort are not expected to do any dirty work. Reasonable enough. What is the Gestapo for?

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON WINES DECEITFULNESS

Golden text: At the last it biteth like a serpent. And stingeth like an adder. Proverbs 23:32. Lesson: Proverbs 20:1; 23:29-35; Matthew 24:45-51. Devotional reading: Galatians 6:7-10.

Explanations and Comments What the Wise Man Knew about Wine, Proverbs 20:1.

What Wine Drinking Does, Proverbs 23:29-35. By a series of questions verses 29 and 30 give us a vivid picture of a drunkard. "Who hath Oh! Who hath Alas!" the Hebrew literally reads, for the words translated "woe" and "sorrow" we are told, are interjections rather than names. Who hath complaining? Who hath wounds without cause? Drunkenness embroils men in quarrels and strife. They come to blow over nothing, without knowing why or wherefore. "Who hath redness of eyes?" Bleared eyes are one of the signs of a drunkard.

The speaker then answers his own questions: "They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek out mixed wine." By "mixed wine" may be meant wine mixed with spices or with opiates. "There is a touch of sarcasm in the answer; the verb elsewhere used of diligent search after knowledge is here used, as if ironically of the investigations of connoisseurs in wine, meeting to test its qualities" (Plumtree).

The writer now counsels everyone to keep away from temptation: "Look not upon the wine when it is red; 'Criticize judge wine, among other indications, by the color of it; some wine, they say, looks so well that it even says, 'Come and drink me' (Matthew Henry)."

"When it sparketh in the cup, literally, 'when it gives its gleam, or eye, to the cup,' that is, when it is full of life" (Toy). Nor when it "goeth down smoothly," the Song of Solomon, 7:9. The wine which fascinates like a serpent is also as poisonous as a serpent; "at the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."

It is seemingly delicious tremens which the next verses describe. "Thine eyes shall behold strange things, and thy heart shall utter perverse things"—things contrary to reason, religion, and common civility, which one would be ashamed to speak if sober.

"Yes, thou shalt be as he that lieth down in the midst of the sea, or as he that lieth upon the top of a mast." "Drink stupes and besots men. Their heads are giddy, their heads swim and when they lie down in sleep they are as if they were tossed by the rolling waves of the sea, upon the top of a mast." (Matthew Henry).

American Lady Just Thought She Saw Africa From Air

An American lady, in a flight over Brazil at 20,000 feet, declared she saw Africa, 1,822 miles away. She may have thought she did, but her statement has brought out the mathematicians, square-rooting the altitude and giving the exact distance one can see, after allowing for the curvature of the earth. The Minneapolis Journal produces a table which is said to be approximately correct:

At 1,000 feet: you can see 39 miles.
At 2,000 feet: 55 miles.
At 3,000 feet: 63 miles.
At 4,000 feet: 77 miles.
At 5,000 feet: 83 miles.
At 10,000 feet: 123 miles.
At 15,000 feet: 150 miles.
At 20,000 feet: 173 miles.
At 25,000 feet: 194 miles.

Such is the visibility on a clear day with powerful binoculars. And the table must be important for the airmen hunting down U-boats in the Atlantic. What about night visibility? When fliers have returned and told of seeing fires in German cities 100 miles away their reports have been trustworthy, as a mere matter of mathematics. At 20,000 feet, a big fire would be visible easily at 170 miles. But the American lady in Brazil would have had to be 38½ miles in the air to have seen Africa in day time.—St. Catharines Standard.

CHAPTER III.

Morgan's room was on the fifth floor. In keeping with his apparent intention of taking a nap, the American had to let the elevator operator see him return to his room. But as soon as the coast was clear, Morgan was climbing the stairway to the sixth floor. Verde would be busy for some time developing the fingerprints on the switched glass, and this would be an excellent opportunity to search the little man's baggage.

Not even the owners of the Casa Grande knew that one of the guests had keys that could open any door from top to bottom of the edifice. These keys had been obtained for Morgan by Capt. Rojas of the Alamos Police Department, the only man in the city who knew why Chris Morgan had come to Argentina.

Morgan had searched Verde's room three days before when it had been occupied by a Chilean couple since checked out, and it required very little time to go over the room once again. There was nothing but a small suitcase, support to Verde's claim that he was in Buenos Aires only for a short visit. There was a letter, however, that established him as a cattleman, owner of a ranch near Santa Rosa.

The American descended to the fourth floor. The rooms of Guillermo and Col. Velasquez, in one of which he must have left the fingerprint that had aroused suspicion, he was impatient to examine again.

OF COURSE, Guillermo's presence in the dining room might have been chance. The musician was something of a recluse, seldom speaking to anyone, he was a man of no words with Verde since the arrival of the cattleman. Nor, for that matter, had Col. Miguel Velasquez y Cuyas Morgan hoped that the man he had come to find would not prove to be Velasquez. In spite of their exchange of brusque words, the American liked the looks of the erect, dark-eyed soldier.

To enter the room of Col. Velasquez was out of the question for some hours at least. Morgan had seen an Argentinean army officer in the lobby, had seen him enter the elevator. Perhaps, if Velasquez should dine this evening with that soldier-beauty, Roesta—Morgan had observed the couple together on several occasions—the American would be able to steal undisturbed into the soldier's quarters.

Was Guillermo in his suite? If Don Felix was helping Verde photograph the fingerprints, the operation might be taking place in the room of the bespectacled musician. Morgan tapped on the door and listened, prepared to dart down the corridor toward the stairway if he heard any sound within.

But his knock produced only silence. Morgan inserted a key in the lock, opened the door and stole into the room. As he closed the door he heard a sort of shout or cry from the hall as though someone had sighted him. The sound of rapid footsteps strengthened the idea, but the footfalls went past the door, rounded the corner of the passage and hurried on to the double-windowed wall of the room. It must have been on that polished surface that he had left the imprint of a thumb or finger. He would have to be more careful this time. He dropped a handkerchief over his hand before he touched the handle of the topmost drawer.

HE LIFTED a handful of papers and examined them on the desk, and at that moment a voice inquired, "You are seeking something, senior?"

Morgan tried not to look up too quickly. The door leading into the bathroom, closed when he had tipped toward the desk, was open now, and in the doorway stood the tall, slight figure of Felix Guillermo.

"You seek something, senior?"

"Don Felix!" Morgan exclaimed, and grinned ruefully as he stared around in apparent astonishment. "I seem to be in the wrong room."

"Tray come my intrusion, Senior Guillermo," said Morgan. "I thought this was the fifth floor and mistook your room for mine."

The American turned toward the door. Guillermo said, "Remain where you are, Senior Morgan." The musician's use of his name was Morgan's first indication that this man who seemed to notice no one was aware of Morgan's presence.

"Do you open your own desk with cloth-covered fingers?" asked Guillermo. "Do you wish to leave fingerprints across your own floor?" He stepped to the small stand in the corner of the room, and, without taking his eyes from Morgan, lifted the handset phone from its cradle.

"Don Felix!" protested Morgan. "Do not move, senior Guillermo!"

Other hand came out of the dressing-room pocket holding a small blue-plaid pistol. "I can shoot you for the thief you seem to be—Hello? There is a thief in my room. I—what's that?"

Don Felix listened, then replaced the phone cord. Behind the lenses of his spectacles he blinked uncertainly at Chris Morgan. "It appears, senior," he said, "that you are a thief, but I did not think you were a murderer also."

"Murderer?" Morgan repeated sharply. "What do you mean?"

COL. MIGUEL Velasquez y Cuyas has just been found in his room—stabbed to death. That was the last of the commotion we heard in the hall.

There was a long moment of silence during which Chris Morgan stared unbelievably at the giant man holding the pistol with a steady hand. "What?" Morgan had to madden lips that were suddenly dry. "What makes you think I killed him?"

The stooped shoulders shrugged. "The conclusion is obvious if you broke into my room, you would also enter that of Col. Velasquez. I presume the collector surprised you even as I did. If I did not have this gun you would probably kill me as well."

"That's true," interrupted Morgan. "I am no murderer."

Again Guillermo gestured with his shoulders. "I am not accusing you, senior. As soon as I mentioned that I had captured a prowler, the desk clerk informed me that it must be the killer of Col. Velasquez and asked that I hold you."

The door behind Morgan opened with a force that slammed it against the wall and two men entered with drawn guns. One of the men Morgan recognized as his friend, Police Captain Rojas.

"This is the man, seniors," Don Felix lowered his own pistol and stepped back relinquishing the attention to the proper authorities. Capt. Rojas eyed Morgan, and was unable to conceal his bewilderment. "Don Felix! This is Senior Morgan, the American."

Guillermo smiled coldly, and the grimace gave his parchment-tight face a satanic cast. "Then why did he hide in my room?"

Morgan glanced at the musician. Guillermo had not mentioned that he had caught Morgan riding his desk.

"THE hall was crowded when Morgan and Rojas, followed by Guillermo and the second policeman, reached the room of Col. Velasquez. The colonel, clad in the uniform of the army of Argentina, was sprawled on the floor beneath a table and an overturned chair. A knife was buried to the hilt between the shoulder blades of the dead officer. Beside the corpse knelt a doctor.

On one side of the room was a third police officer, questioning Senior De Nova and the youth who ran the elevator. Captain Rojas immediately joined his colleague. Morgan noted all this sidelongly, for his attention was focused on the table where, obviously, Colonel Velasquez had been seated when stabbed.

There was a second chair, pushed back slightly, and on the table was a glass and a bottle of whisky. What must have been Velasquez's glass was lying on its side as though knocked over when the soldier had received his death blow. But there was another glass, so familiar that a slight shock coursed through Chris Morgan.

The second glass was half-filled, and faintly dull as though it had been cleaned with a greasy rag—the same glass, apparently, into which Morgan had poured his own unfinished drink.

Morgan's eyes roved over the room. On a divan Roesta Velasquez was being comforted by an elderly woman; the doctor had joined the group about Captain Rojas; but Senior Raymond Verde was conspicuous by his absence. Felix Guillermo, his face expressionless, was watching Morgan.

The American's gaze returned to the table. He had guessed wrong concerning the reason Verde and De Nova desired his fingerprints. That glass had been placed in his room as evidence that Morgan was the killer of Velasquez.

Had the plot been built up since Morgan had bumped into Velasquez and knocked Rojas off his feet? Capt. Rojas touched Morgan's arm. "Is this the man who was with last night, Velasquez?" he inquired of the elevator boy.

The youth hesitated and studied the American most carefully. "I would not say, Senior el Capitán," he said. "He is tall, as was the man I saw, with the same brown hair and grey eyes, but—"

"It was he—it was Senior Morgan." The sleek-faced De Nova was less reticent. "I was interested in the welfare of my guests, who carried into this room the liquor, soda and glasses ordered by the colonel. The colonel's guest was standing at the window. His back was turned as though he did not wish me to see his face. But I am certain the man was Senior Morgan."

Next Chapter: Morgan wins the first round but is taken by surprise in the second.

There's Only One Master-Key to the Major Market!

It's the Weekly Newspapers in the towns and villages of Canada — the only publications whose complete contents are absorbed with instinctive, intimate, friendly confidence and understanding by the people who make 69% of the nation's retail purchases.

It is that which the Weekly Newspapers and their millions of earnest readers have in common—their purely local interests, their essentially personal relationships and in many respects their actual interdependence in the "home town" scheme of things—that makes the Weeklies such an influence for sales right on "Main Street" where the 69% of the country's retail sales are made.

The Weekly Newspapers bring the advertiser, the dealer and the consumer more closely, more effectively together in the smaller communities, and do it more economically, than any other sales-building medium.

When planning your 1943 advertising budget, be sure to have all the facts about the dominant position of the Weekly Newspapers in Canada's 69% major market. Write now, for precise information.

WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCTION

Farmers of the Prairie Provinces, including the Peace River and Creston areas of British Columbia, who desire to divert wheat acreage to production of any other crops or to summerfallow in 1943, may claim payment for doing so.

Payment of $2.00 may be made for each acre by which the wheat seeded on any farm in 1943 is below that seeded on such farm in 1940. If there was no wheat on a farm in 1940 but there was wheat in 1939, the 1939 acreages may be used instead of those of 1940. Any crops or summerfallow may be substituted for wheat, but payment will not be made on abandoned lands.

Payment on any farm is limited to an acreage not greater than 80% of the total cultivated acreage of such farm.

To obtain payment farmers must make a sworn statement of claim immediately seeding is completed. They should plan to do so
NOT LATER THAN JUNE 30th.

Any farmer who did not apply for Wheat Acreage Reduction payment in either 1941 or 1942 and intends to do so in 1943 must notify his municipality of his intention before May 31, and then make his claim after seeding.

Forms are available in the offices of the municipalities or direct from offices of the Wheat Acreage Reduction Administration in Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton.

Statements of claim may be submitted to Municipal Offices or to Offices especially arranged to receive them in localities not served by municipalities. Delay in making claims should be avoided; they may be filed immediately seeding is completed. Persons having interests in farms as landlords may submit applications at once.
